

Golfer Girl

CROSSWORD

By Chloe Belle Hooton

Golf

By Lily Choi, Age 14

The ball sits there in front of me,
And I swing with all my might.
The club hits the ball solid-ly,
And the ball flies out of sight.

I find the ball on the green,
The smallest green ever seen.
I hit the ball just one light tap,
And off it goes, into the hole's lap.

That's just it, golf's just a game,
But if you miss, well that's a shame.
You need a golf club and a golf ball,
Bumpy to the touch and light and small.

So what in the world are you waiting for?
Go hit a birdie, eagle or par four.
